

VILLA REFUSES TO
SHOW BENTON BODYAMERICAN GOVERNMENT POINTS OUT IMPORTANCE OF GIVING UP REMAINS.

CHANGE OF ATTITUDE

General Villa Gives Unsatisfactory
Answer—White House Officials
Will Have Body Examined.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Further representations were made by the American government early today to General Francisco Villa pointing out the importance of giving up the body of William S. Benton, the Scotloman recently executed at Juarez, whose official is being investigated by the United States and Great Britain.

White House officials, after Secretary Bryan had left, made this explanation of the status of the inquiry for Benton's body.

Two dispatches were received yesterday, one from consular agent Caruthers, saying Villa would not permit a view of the body "at this time," but would do so later. That message came during the afternoon.

Late last night a message was received from Consul Lecher at Chihuahua, who had been in personal conference with Villa. He reported that Villa was willing to have the body and relatives of Benton see the body when it was exhumed and that their visit would be permitted in the presence of representatives to be designated by the American government.

The change in General Villa's attitude as reflected in these two messages it was said was the result of representations by the United States army surgeon as one of its representatives and an examination of the body will be made according to White House officials.

Carranza Firm.

El Paso, Feb. 25.—Louis Carranza, Carranza's confidential agent, visited the rebel officials at Juarez yesterday and is reported to have done some very plain speaking, with reference to the Benton and Bauch matters.

"We must clear up these matters no matter how back they may turn against us," Carranza told his fellow revolutionists. "Delay only makes things worse. It is like a snow ball growing constantly larger."

Still Uncertain.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 25.—Uncertainty still prevailed here today regarding the fate of the body of William S. Benton, the British subject whom he executed last week.

General Villa's attitude toward the rebel officials at Juarez yesterday, reported that Villa declines to deliver the body, but that he will permit the widow or other relatives to visit the body with American representatives, and that for their benefit he will order an exhumation of the body which will then be re-interred in the grave from which it was removed.

In a telegram to one of his subordinates at Juarez General Villa was reported as saying:

"I will not give up the body out of respect to the dead. It was interred with all religious observances and a cross erected over it and I will not allow the sacrifice of its removal."

United States secret service operatives said they had received information which did not make public, that indicated that Gustav Bauch, the missing German American, has met a fate similar to Benton.

At Fever Heat.

Interest in the case of William S. Benton, who was executed by Gen. Villa at Juarez eight days ago, centered today in the arrival of Charles Forcival, British consul at Galveston, who was expected here today to make a thorough investigation. His efforts to find out just how Benton was killed, it is expected, will bring a definite statement from Gen. Villa at Chihuahua as to what may be done with the body.

Reports of Villa's intentions were vague and varied last night, ranging from a flat refusal to deliver the body or permission to relatives to visit the grave. It was reported also he would permit an examination of the body later.

No Truth.

London, Feb. 25.—Lord Cowdray today informed the Associated Press that there was no truth in the report current in Mexico City that it was the intention of the federal government to transfer the oil lands in Mexico for fifty million dollars in gold after they have been nationalized by the Mexican congress.

The intention of the Mexican government to nationalize the oil lands was admitted yesterday by Querido Moreno, the Mexican minister of commerce and industry.

Officially Confirmed.

Laredo, Feb. 25.—Official confirmation of the hanging of Clemente Vergara, an American citizen by Mexican federalists near Hidalgo, Mexico, was received today by United States Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo. The report said Vergara's body still is hanging three miles from Hidalgo. Consul Garrett immediately left Nuevo Laredo for the scene. Vergara was from Webb county, Texas.

Paroling Convicts
FOR TEXAS SYSTEM

Texas Governor Signs Fifty Paroles
For New Experiment for Working Convicts.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 25.—Revocable paroles for fifty convicts were signed by Governor Colquhoun yesterday and with their departure from the Huntsville penitentiary today the state will inaugurate an experiment in the management of prisoners without guards or shackles and a profit sharing plan for their work on public roads.

The state will receive $15 a month for each convict's labor. Half of this will go to the penitentiary fund and half to the man's personal accounts. The county in which the men work will maintain them without the expense and of guard and overseers.

Governor Colquhoun today announced that preparations were about complete for the paroling of forty more men under similar conditions to the Texas state railroad for construction work.

A FORMER MINISTER
PROVED A SWINDLER

Once Prominent Pastor at a Connecticut Town Will Be Sentenced for Grand Larceny.

New York, Feb. 25.—The Rev. Francis S. Baker, formerly a Congregational minister in Waterbury, Conn., will be sentenced on Tuesday for the work of "searching" files to a loan swindle for which his partner William Harney was sentenced to ten months in prison. The two men induced their victims to pay fees for the work of "searching" files to properties offered the defendant as security for loans. The files would be declared unsatisfactory and the fees kept by Baker and Harney. The latter was a witness in Baker's trial. Baker is 30 years old and an attorney living in Brooklyn. A graduate of Oberlin, Baker was for a time secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Bay City, Mich., and later went to the Yale Divinity school.

FORMER MADISON PITCHER
LEAVES TO JOIN YANKEES

Madison, Wis., Feb. 25.—Cy Fleh, major league pitcher, left Madison today for New York to join the New York Americans in time to take the spring training trip. Fleh, formerly with the Madison club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, was sold to New York during the 1913 season by the Dayton Central league club. The Yankees will train at Houston, Tex.

TUNNEL DISASTER," INSISTS CASTILLO

Maximo Castillo.

"I am not responsible for the Cumbre tunnel disaster," insists Maximo Castillo, the Mexican bandit who is now being detained by American authorities at Fort Bliss, Texas. "I was not there at the time and I can prove it. I who could not kill a living thing, to be accused of such an act!"

HEARS WIFE'S FUNERAL
SERMON OVER PHONE
WHILE ON DEATH BED

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 25.—A delicate of the purpose, made it possible for former Judge James Inglis, who is dying of pneumonia to hear the funeral services read over the body of his wife, Mrs. Ella M. Inglis. Though the service was held in the parlor of the English home, Mr. Inglis was too weak to leave his bed room upstairs. When the services were begun a receiver was lifted to Judge Inglis' ears. He kept it there until the last word was said in the room below. Mrs. Inglis died Sunday of pneumonia.

EVANSVILLE SCHOOL
EDUCATORS ASPECT
HIGH SCHOOL COURSES

Supt. J. F. Waddell, principal of the Evansville schools, and Messrs. Baker and Porter, members of the board of education at that place, were in the city today, inspecting the manual training and domestic science departments of the Janesville high school. The purpose of such an inspection is to get ideas on the courses. Plans are being made to install both of these courses in the Evansville high school within the near future.

Naturalization Cases: Over ninety new citizens for Rock county were admitted today following examinations before Judge Grimm in circuit court. Naturalization Examiner Blazek of Chicago represented the government. The examination was conducted with dispatch, 46 cases being disposed of before noon. But one case was dismissed, insufficiency of witnesses being the cause.

Marriage License: A marriage license was issued his afternoon to Winfield Scott and Loraine Jones, both of the town of La Prairie.

HAVE LIGHT SNOWS
IN EXTREME SOUTHGulf States Experience First Snow
Storm For Some Years—Storm is General Throughout South.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 25.—A light snow fell here for the first time since March, 1903. The temperature was thirty-two above, the snow melted as fast as it fell.

Attracted by the strange sight of heavy snows in this locality, many persons in various sections of Mississippi and Louisiana today rose early to remain away from business in order to enjoy the novelty. The heaviest fall was at Laurel, Miss., where the ground was covered six inches deep with snow still flying. At Meridian there were about three inches. The weather was much colder on the Gulf coast and sleet fell but no snow.

At Macon, Ga., Feb. 25.—Macon experienced the first heavy snowfall in several years today. Three inches already have fallen and the snow continues. The temperature is thirty degrees.

First Snow in Years.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 25.—For the first time in something like twenty years Savannah experienced a snow fall today. About two inches fell in Columbus, Ga., two inches of snow fell, the first in fifteen years.

ENDEAVOR TO SOLVE
KIDNAPPING MYSTERYDisappearance of Miss Stella Cizywska, Aged Fourteen, Proves to be a Puzzle in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Feb. 25.—Milwaukee police are endeavoring to solve what is believed to be a kidnapping mystery in the disappearance of Stella Cizywska, aged 14 years, who lived at 918 Douglas street. The girl has been missing since Monday noon.

She took her father's lunch, to where he was working at a sewer in Hunt street, and after he had finished his lunch she took the dinner pail and started for home. That was the last seen of her. The girl is about four feet tall, blonde hair, has a white shawl over her head, and wore a blue flannel dress.

COPS HAVE HARD TIME
SOLVING HIGH LIVING COST

Madison, Wis., Feb. 25.—"Twenty-three years ago, with two children and $35 a month I was doing better than I can do now with no children and $75 a month."

The above is the emphatic statement of Sergeant William Harte of the police department.

"Think what it costs a man for clothes," said the sergeant. "It will cost the new men coming on a beat tonight just about $100 to be fitted out."

The sergeant then went on to give some figures on clothes and shoes. An overcoat, lasting about three seasons, costs $27. A double-breasted coat, lasting two seasons, costs $15. There is a standard three-breasted coat for summer, lasting one season, at $12. Cap and helmet, lasting three seasons, come to $3. Two pairs of trousers a year amount to $14. Then there is a cleaning and repairing bill of $6 per year, shoes at $10 a pair, and a rubber coat at $8.

The sergeant figures that a new man, laying in his wardrobe, will spend 9 per cent of his wages on regalia alone. Madison police will each soon get $5 per month more, but the sergeant is not sure.

"I won't settle the high cost of living for cops," he says.

MILWAUKEE BUSINESS MEN
WILL TAKE EXCURSION TO THE PACIFIC COAST

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 25.—Invitations have been issued for one of the longest trips undertaken by Milwaukee business men, according to the Merchants and Manufacturers' association today.

According to the announcement the trip will be known as the "far west merchants' trade excursion." A special train will be used for the tour which will take the travelers to the Pacific coast.

The following states will be visited: Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, and Colorado. The cost to each man will be about $200, and indications now are that more than the seventy-eight excursionists, to which the list is limited, will have subscribed to the plan.

A Fertilized Field
Yields
the Richest Harvest

Mr. Merchant when the manufacturer of some article with a national reputation comes into your town and advertises in your newspapers he is cultivating the field for you.

You hardly have to plant any seeds or even watch the weather. All you have to do is to gather in the crops.

But the harvest will be twice as large for you and twice as pleasing to the manufacturer if you do help a little.

Two pushes in the same direction will show the plough a little deeper in the earth.

In other words, when the manufacturer uses this newspaper and other newspapers to exploit goods which you carry on your shelves, push those goods.

Show them in your windows and on your counters. Advertise the fact that you have them.

The public will be interested and will at least want to see them. If the goods are right it will want to buy them.

Sales mean profits. Sales of the goods that people want mean reputation and good will.

Any manufacturer who is interested in co-operative dealer work will address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, or he will be glad to answer questions.

Booklet on request.

CRACKSMEN ATTEMPT
JOB AT DES MOINESUnsuccessful in Plan to Blow Up
Vault in State Treasurer's Office at Capitol.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 24.—An unsuccessful attempt to dynamite the vault in the state treasurer's office here was made today. Two of the state house watchmen were bound and gagged, but the safe blowers got only $5 which they took from a cash drawer in the treasurer's office.

The cracksmen, four in number and masked, entered the building about midnight. After binding and gagging the watchmen they drilled four holes in the vault and set off the charges which failed to open the door.

After the door had been successfully released, the cracksmen from his bonds and telephoned the police, who immediately began work on the case.

After two explosions were set off around the door of the vault the men were about to begin a third attempt when they were interrupted. The watchmen who were overpowered were Mills Russell and George Carpenter. A. J. Gay, another watchman was said by the police, to have been successfully asleep in "the supreme court room," while the attempted robbery was in progress.

The safe contained about $7,600 in currency and more than a million dollars worth of securities, including $200,000 worth of capital extension bonds, according to William C. Brown, the state treasurer.

PLAN WAR AGAINST
QUACK PHYSICIANSFederation of Medical Boards Seeking to Establish Uniform Standards for License.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—A nation-wide program to prevent an on-coming race of "quack-doctors" was outlined here today when the Federation of State Medical Boards of the United States went into session. The federation is striving to bring about uniform legislation and a uniform, minimum, educational and professional standards for license to practice medicine.

Eminent physicians, representing all branches of the healing art, from osteopaths to medical colleges and mental healers, were ready to present their diagnoses of "ailing" sections of various state laws governing the requirements for securing a physician's license, with a recommendation of the proper "dose" to be administered to effect a cure.

"Most state boards are obliged to recognize all of the medical colleges in their own state," which is a good thing, said Otto Hufmann, secretary-treasurer of the New York State Medical Board. The American Medical Association's list of medical schools is not acceptable because it considers acceptable some schools that are not acceptable to some of the high standard state medical boards.

The federation is on record as favoring the establishment of uniform laws that shall require a standard high-school education before a person may take up the study of medicine, a four-year course in the study of medicine, and a recommendation of the proper "dose" to be administered to effect a cure.

"At present there is a heterogeneous lot of laws in the country relative to the practice of medicine and the requirements in no two states are exactly alike. Very few state boards have facilities for passing upon the credentials of the applicants for examination to the medical licensing examinations. The credentials as to the high school requirements should be passed upon by one thoroughly familiar with high school work."

The federation's standard goes into effect it will be impossible for anyone to be graduated from a medical college before he reaches the age of 22. This is really a very low standard, but it will be a great advance. It is not a question of fewer doctors, but better doctors.

"The greatest abuse today is a loop hole that may be found in the laws and regulations of nearly all state boards which provide that applicants for a license to practice shall furnish a credential of having passed such and such an education or its equivalent. This 'equivalent' provides the loop hole. An applicant may have been examined by anybody anywhere, and furnished a certificate saying that he has passed an examination of which the equivalent of the educational standard required. This abuse must be corrected."

WOMEN SUCCESSFUL WITH FEDERAL WORK

Employ Women Clerks on Interstate Commerce Commission—Many Take Examinations.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The feminine sex has just won a notable victory here. President Wilson and the house have turned woman suffrage down—but the interstate commerce commission has just determined to employ women clerks.

The commission has been mere man's last stronghold. For years it has been the one branch of the government service where only men were employed. Even if a female stenographer passed 100 per cent in the civil service examinations, she couldn't get on the rolls at the big building on F street where the commission holds forth.

The old prejudice against women as workers held full sway. The official excuse against their employment was that it was necessary at all times to maintain a force available for "field service" and women could not be expected to hold themselves in readiness for transfer to any old place at any time.

But back of the official excuse, women as clerks have an interesting story. It is that Uncle Sam can't find competent male stenographers and clerks. There are a dozen women who take the civil service examinations to every man's government jobs may have a luscious sound to the average man, but most of them are becoming wise to the fact that while the jobs may be "easy" the opportunities for promotion to class A jobs are not easy.

Also there is a suspicion growing among clerks who entered the service to find a "soft snap" that maybe their jobs are not as soft as they anticipated. Of course the hours are easy and the work nothing like as heavy as in private employment—but efficiency ratings are now in force in nearly every department, and the clerks must stick tight on their jobs.

Women play an important part in the government work. There are thousands employed in the treasury department alone. Women are far and above men in such work as counting banknotes, assisting plate printers, and doing the work of a typewriter for possible defects. Their natural intuition is superior to that of man and they are peculiarly fitted for such work. There are perhaps fewer women in the treasury department than anywhere else, but in the interior, agricultural, postoffice, commerce, labor, justice and state departments they come near equaling the number of men.

A woman now heads an important government bureau—Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau. Another is on the industrial relations board—Mrs. Borden Harriman. The treasury department has one woman whose place could not be filled by a man—Miss Hinkley, the special examiner of money sent in for redemption. The department of agriculture recognizes that despite chiefs and other male talent woman still reigns supreme in the kitchen by having Miss Hannah Westcott on its rolls as official maker and experimenter in bakery. The same government branch is now employing women to aid in the farm extension work—to teach county fairs and show farmers wives the best way to put up preserves, pickles, and the like. Miss Nell Price is in charge of this work. The department of agriculture like wise numbers among its employees Dr. Alberta Reed, a woman authority on tea and inventor of the Reed test for tea adulteration, and Miss Alice Hinkel, one of the world's authorities on medicinal roots. Miss Hinkel has written six books on the subject which have been in such demand from pharmacists all over the world that they are known as "Miss Hinkel's six best sellers." She has also been recognized by foreign governments. And so it happens that from a position of more tolerance and suspension, the government is gradually coming to recognize women as employees with considerable favor.

Five Suffragists
DEFY LONDON COURT

Refuse to Give Bonds for Violent
Public Protest at Asquith When Arraigned Today.

London, Feb. 25.—Five prominent women's suffrage advocates were brought before the Bow street police court today, charged with obstructing the police during last night's demonstration in Parliament Square when they protested violently against Premier Asquith's refusal to receive them.

The prisoners were Lawrence Houseman, author and artist; Henry V. Veinsson, war correspondent; Mrs. D. A. Thomas, wife of the Welsh coal magnate; H. D. Harben and Miss K. Haigh.

The magistrate ordered them all to give bonds of $25 each to guarantee their good behavior for six months. The prisoners all refused to enter into the bond.

In a speech from the prisoners enclosure, Lawrence Houseman said, "I am here as a protest against the treatment of women political offenders. I think it justified and necessary."

In the ordinary courts offenders refusing to give bond remain in prison for six months.

Alfred Maynell, another prisoner is charged with assaulting the police and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or go to prison for seven days.

SOIL EXPERT TELLS OF GARDEN FARMING

Ninety-Eight Per Cent of Available
Land Not Used in Truck
Gardening.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Garden truck, the second largest crop in the point of value grown in the United States, is raised on but 2 per cent of the land especially adaptable to truck raising, and most of the remaining 98 per cent is idle. Dr. F. K. Cameron of the bureau of soils, who knows more about dirt than any other man in the country, has reached this conclusion and he says that the present need is for more extensive farming but for better shipping facilities and terminals. The barrier between a city dweller and a mess of green peas is to be removed by finance rather than by farming.

"The finest garden soil in the world is a sandy loam, usually not very good for general farming," said the expert today in discussing the question, "and land of this nature stretches all the way from New England to Texas. Transportation to market is the big problem in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other big cities the problem is much more the same and it is being attacked from two angles. The city people are turning 'back to the soil' and the engineers are devising new methods of quick transportation."

Dr. Cameron was moved to this comment in view of a recent story from New York that an agriculturist there had devised a new method of forcing vegetable growth by applying "carbonic acid gas" direct to the earth. The experiment was made several experiments of this nature but has produced no unusual results. Certain other methods, however, result in abnormally large vegetables, but these are generally without any economic value.

"Big vegetables do not save anything, because there is plenty of room to grow truck," explained the expert. "The best land for this purpose is a sandy loam, because it can be controlled easily and worked up nicely. A soil analysis will show the proper fertilizer and land like muscle improves in strength and productivity when properly used."

A pound of fresh poultry represents an investment of from 13.1 cents to 20.6 cents, providing the most scientific methods have been used in breeding. The raising of poultry has made several hundred dollars in the past year, which time more than a million fowls were fattened for the market, the animal husbandry division of the Bureau of animal industry has arrived at these figures. The higher figure represents the cost of the fowl in July and this gradually becomes less until November.

The experiments were conducted under the supervision of Alfred R. Lee, whose aim was to discover the cheapest food for the commercial fattening of poultry. Every variety of feeding was tried and three model rations were finally decided upon.

No. 1 consists of three parts of corn meal, two parts low grade wheat flour and one part shorts. No. 2 has three parts corn meal, three parts low grade wheat flour, and No. 3 has five parts corn meal, three parts low grade wheat flour, one part shorts and five per cent (correct) tallow. The same feeding value is secured by the ration of three parts corn meal and two parts oat flour but at an increased cost of 37 cents per hundred pounds of grain.

Tallow makes the fat on the birds more pronounced but increases the cost of the grain in weight. Thick condensed buttermilk in the place of tallow produces better results. The addition of beef scraps to the buttermilk was tried but this did not increase the gain. Grit was found to be of no value in fattening for a period under fifteen days.

Under commercial conditions in the middle west the best results are secured by fattening for about fourteen days during the summer. After the middle of September this period should be shortened gradually till the fattening process lasts only six or seven days.

Birds eat more when fed three times a day but show greater gain per pound when fed by twice a day.

In the experiments conducted by the government there was a great variation in the results secured in fattening. This was due to the difference in the ability of the birds to take on flesh to their weight at the beginning of the feeding, and to weather conditions.

The various conditions in birds makes their selection in fattening of considerable importance. It was also shown that broilers can be fattened about a cent and a half cheaper per pound than roasters.

Select Good Men For the Assembly and You Can Accomplish Your Wishes as Regards Taxation.

This is one of a series of articles on the Wisconsin political situation written exclusively for the Gazette. (By Bob Acres.)

"Those whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad."

If you should seek to disintegrate the present state administration, with its various commissions, sub-commissions, clerkships, sub-clerkships, you would lay bare the whole of the educational system of the state as personified by the state state university. Superintendent of public instruction Carry drove his head against a stone wall trying to instill this into the minds of the voters of the state, and while they had confidence in him enough to re-elect him to office despite the strongest kind of opposition, the abuses continued.

Each June the university hands to its faithful students a few hundred degrees. Then to make the measuring cup full, it passes out a few honorary degrees. In the case of the student has become distinguished in the field of politics, of letters, or of what, and to add to the prestige, a degree is handed him that he could not otherwise possibly have won. A "Son to Celerus" as it were, it makes them loyal alumni. Perhaps they go to the state legislature, perhaps their friends do through their influence, no matter which, the degree and is accomplished. The degree is not wasted, and Van Hise and his cohorts of professors, instructors and assistant instructors, are safe for another two years to go out into the broad land to gain new recruits to the Wisconsin Idea.

The various commissions created by the various progressive legislative enactments have been filled by graduates of the university, men versed in the special training of the needs of the state. Some of these commissions even professors, who see an additional source of revenue to their already fairly large income. The tax commission, in all its various judicial parts, is made largely of this class of clerks and heads of the various sub departments. The same is true of the railroad commissions, of every other commission in fact. The more commissions there are the more places there are to fill, the greater the incentive for the students and instructors and professors in outdoing each other in suggesting radical changes.

I do not mean this for an attack upon the university, but when you are paying over a hundred thousand dollars a month for salaries and expenses of the various paid employees, we should expect something more than mere allegiance to the Wisconsin Idea. This idea has made all this expense possible, but still when old Chancellor Lathrop was head of the state university it turned out men and women that put to shame the present graduates. A college course is a benefit to any man or woman, but the hop Scotch curriculum that is needed to gain a degree at Wisconsin today, filled with socialism, anarchistic teachings, contable with Communism, the Red with the free thought thinkers is disgusting to honest God fearing people.

However, this is politics as taught by the regime of La Follette, McGovern, Aylward and Davies, Republican or Democrat, very strange. Both are tinged with the same pitch. The skillful politician makes a big hue and cry about the governorship, about the state ticket and blinds the eyes of the voters to the only source of refuge they have, the legislature. Then they slip in, nominate men carefully selected, men who will follow the beck and call of the leaders without a murmur and enact laws for the continuance of their present system, raise taxes for the promotion of their doctrines, for the expounding of the Wisconsin Idea, at the sacrifice of the men who pay the toll.

Sever mind who is nominated for governor, he is but a figurehead at best, but watch out for your legislative nominees. If you can select a man whose views are for lower taxation; a man who is not afraid to stand out and discuss matters with you; not a Theorist, but a good honest tax payer, a man who is one of your own kind and you will solve the whole question at one full swoop, that is if enough of them are elected. It does not matter what is the political badge of servitude, of what brand of republican or democrat he is, if he is a man who does not believe in wasting the state's finances for the benefit of an idea.

I understand that next Saturday the business men, the farmers, the men who pay the freight as it were, of Rock county are going to meet in Janesville regardless of political affiliation, for the purpose of discussing the taxation question. It might suggest that if such a meeting is held, it is a meeting that is being held by some political preference, they would do well to pass stringent resolutions as to the abolishment of the tax commission, the reducing of the expenses of the state university, doing away with the income tax and otherwise relieving the tax payer of the present conditions that bid fair to become insufferable in a very short time.

I shall try and be present at the Saturday meeting, not to take part, but the good Lord forbid, but to listen and learn what is behind the move. Then perhaps I can talk more intelligently in the future, to your Rock county Liberator! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil," from any drug store and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief and a cure awaits you. "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, and sprains.

readers. I do not believe in the reorganization of any of the old factional divisions, but would like to see a non-partisan movement, such as I understand Saturday's meeting is, carried out in every county in the state. It would be a nucleus to an organization that would be state-wide to select good men for the legislature to insure the carrying out of the reforms would relieve the present situation.

No matter if Hutton, if Hull, if Crownhart or if Roethlisberger will be nominated on the by the republican side or if Karel, or Wolfe or Schmitz on the democratic, it would make no difference if the legislature is not right. They make the laws, the governor signs them. Everyone of these men have some sort of a bond of servitude attached around their necks. It may be La Follette, it may be McGovern on the republican side, or Davies and Aylward or anti Davies and Aylward on the democratic, they all wear the collar. The governorship does not matter. Look after your assemblyman.

Of course you say the governorship carries with it lots of prestige? It does create a machine, but it does not enact laws in this prestige can be used to aid legislation, but it does not actually make it. Make no mistake at this time and the yourself up to some one candidate, you will be sorry for later. Look the field over thoroughly. Construct a campaign, it is young, plenty of time to make your selection.

I am told that Rock county will possibly have a candidate for the governorship in the person of Assemblyman Rosa Belmont. Belmont is a local man, Rosa is an anti McGovern man, it should help, but he is one of those progressives of the ultra type who believe the sun rises and sets on Robert M. La Follette and his words, so there you are. There is no hope for a conservative republican to gain the nomination. I would deplore the attempt to aid him, but still there are men in the state who have the requirements for the office, they are conservatives or democrats, who would make an ideal state executive.

WELL ACTED DRAMA PRESENTS PROBLEM

Fairly Large Audience See Unpleasant Situation Delicately But Forcibly Handled.—Repeated Tonight.

Presenting with relentless realism the appalling circumstances which contribute to commercialized vice in all its degrading horrors, and appealing for more real active concern, the play comes heralded as a great drama of the white slave trade, great took away the breath it the audience of the theater last evening.

The play comes heralded as a great depiction of the life in the underworld, and it is. Agnes Berton is dragged into the depths by the sheer fact that she needs money with which to send her sister to the country to cure her of the first symptoms of consumption. Her great love for her younger sister is the motive which finally drives Agnes Berton out of honest life and to the killing of the man who was chiefly responsible for her downfall. The youthful innocence of this young sister serves by contrast to bring out to a greater depth the mental attitude of the fallen Agnes. However, as Mrs. Molly McGuire says in the play, it is not one thing alone that forces girls down, but rather a long line of circumstances each contributing to the ultimate downfall, including several of them are made at the low wage scale that exists in the factories and stores where girls are employed.

The emotional work of Miss Bees Sankley, who took the part of Agnes Berton, was artistic and real. Beginning at the moment when her sister, Elsie, faints in her arms, down to the moment when she is finally rescued by the jury after her killing of the man who was chiefly responsible for her downfall. Her career was a gradual evolution from an honest to a hardened woman. Her work was of a finer quality than that of any of her supporters, but this need belittle their work by no means.

King Holmes, as Vic Connors, the cadet, played a most disagreeable part in a way that could not have been improved upon.

Mrs. Molly McGuire, the fiery but good natured Irish woman, and the mouth piece of the author's philosophies, was played by Eva French in close image to life. Edwina Levin played the part of Lulu, the wanton, in a way that was accurate though not offensive.

The play is an attempt to handle a situation that is unpleasant at all times, but the manner of handling it is sufficiently artistic that no offense is given in any of the details. It is given in any of the details. It is given in any of the details. It is given in any of the details.

Persons who saw the production last night were given food for thought. If they came from a sense of curiosity they went away astounded and crushed, stirred to the depth that such extenuating conditions exist. The play will be presented again tonight, the theme presented with wonderful artistic realism. It will grip you and hold you to the end.

Bathing in the Antipodes.

Sea bathing in Australia is the main national pastime, even more than is baseball here, and in consequence Australia is turning out not only fine swimmers but some of the finest shaped men and women the world has ever seen since the Greek gods ruled. Sea bathing is good and bulky the whole year round in Australia, and is greedily enjoyed by everybody living in any reaching distance of the sea.

NEW PENNSY SOLON IS A LABOR LEADER

John J. Casey.

John J. Casey, who now represents Pennsylvania's eleventh district in congress, is one of the prominent labor leaders in his state. Last November when he was elected to congress he was an international officer of the journeymen plumbers, gas fitters and steam fitters' helpers of the United States and Canada.

Casey started life at the age of eight as a breaker boy in the coal mines. In his political life he has done much for the laboring man and is responsible for the present employers' liability law in his state. He is a Democrat, has a family of eight children and is thirty-eight years old.

Amusements

"EXCUSE ME" COMPANY AT THE MYERS OPERA HOUSE MONDAY, MARCH 2.

Playgoers in every city in the land look forward with keen interest to any offering of S. T. King Amusement Co., Inc., sends along, and there is especial eagerness over his forthcoming production at the Myers opera house Monday night, March 2, "Excuse Me," that has a tremendous reputation as a laugh-maker. Farce is having its day just now, and of plays of this style that have popularity "Excuse Me" is unquestionably foremost. Produced at the Gaiety theater in New York season before last it ran there continuously, scoring a total of nine months. Meantime a company especially organized to present the play in Chicago remained there six months. These runs are exceptional and speak for the good quality of "Excuse Me." The piece is a novelty. Its action takes place on a railroad train on a journey across the continent in Chicago. It makes a cleverly carried out. It makes a minute of laughter for two thousand miles, the distance supposed to be covered by the "Excuse Me" train. There is laughter every mile and every minute. The Pullman porter in the play is described, the speaker in the train in "Excuse Me" aptly expresses the gait of the comedy. Says he:

"Dis yer train don't stop; it don't even hesitate, it just rushes."

The play is a laugh-maker and fun in the play—the rush through it. "Excuse Me" is farce pure and simple. It is designed to provide wholesome, light, merry entertainment, and it does so. Its appeal for the amusement it gives, if it will be presented with an admirable cast, one that is beyond the usual standard, and with the same production which scored so signal a success in New York.

"The Traffic," a gripping new play with the subject of white slavery as its theme and which is to be seen at the Myers theater tonight, has been receiving some very strong endorsements from prominent men and women in public and social life. No less a personage than Lieutenant Governor Barrett O'Hara of Illinois, state wage and vice commission, and a man singularly qualified to discuss the subject heretofore treated, says in part: "The Traffic" is the most powerful play dealing with vice and wages that it has my privilege to witness. It is powerful because true. Unlike "The Lure" and some others, it is not overdone. It is a true story of a real girl here in Chicago—and I defy anyone to maintain to the contrary, and no clean minded young lady need remain away from "The Traffic" for it is as clean as an antiseptic bandage, no matter how unclean the ailment beneath may be."

Ashton Stevens, the noted critic of the Chicago Examiner, says: "I write by vocabulary away praising the play. It is the 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' of white slavery, and I'd cuss, even pray, to get all the people running to this ingenious and horrible exploitation of an evil which I, as the other men, know exists on every hand. The downright squareness of 'The Traffic' blinds me to anything but its high purpose and irrepressible truthfulness."

William A. Pinkerton, the celebrated detective says: "Americans should see this great play, 'The Traffic.' If they do it will make the hardest task of the police easy."

These are only a few of thousands of endorsements of this astounding play, which will be seen here in its entirety, presented by a cast of unusual calibre, including Bess Ann, Key, King Strong, Edwina Lee, Edw. Holmes, Edward Hurd, Marie Ascoraga, Eva French, Edith Witham, and others.

Cow Vanquished Horse.

A quiet dairy cow resents being driven by a racehorse, as a man found out recently who was riding a valuable racehorse and offered to drive an old cow along a country road in New Zealand. The cow, becoming excited at the unusual circumstances of the clothed horse, rushed and gored and killed it, the rider being thrown and rendered incapable of averting the vicious attack.

Cigar Counter Wiseacres Now Solve World Problems

It used to be the corner grocery store with its sheet iron stove and its row of cracker boxes, always occupied with the village wags and gossip. Now it's the cigar counter that holds the palm as the forum in which world problems are settled by eloquent wisecracks.

It was when the enterprising grocer put wire screens over the dried prunes and peaches, covered the cheese with a glass case and kept crackers in boxes instead of barrels, that the change came. Driven from this time-honored haven, there must be some substitute so it's the cigar store that has been settled upon for the great forum where glib prophets make their predictions and expound on all sorts of subjects.

If you don't believe it, ask the embracing maid behind the cigar counter. She will tell you that the customers wear out their coat sleeves polishing the glass, telling how Villa had better make tracks for the wilderness before Uncle Sam's troops chase him across the big ditch for the Benton execution, or how the voters are going to tie a can on the tax boosters in the coming election. When you see a man go into a cigar store watch and see if he don't stop and discuss the big league deals for half an hour, telling either the clerk or a friend who will listen, inside tips on why Murphy was kicked out of baseball, or how much the Sox really paid for Lena Blackburne, or how the Reds are going to fight the major league magnates to a fair-the-well.

One night last week in a local cigar store a prominent Janesville attorney had an audience of ten or twelve men backed down in their seats, and was reciting tax statistics and adverse opinions on the numerous commissions that no one but himself understood. This same lawyer could give his views on running the entire state government from fixing railroad rates, down to the coming election of municipal judge. The next night some authority on the Panama canal will mount to the counter, possibly purchase a cigar, and then show his interested listeners just how the government can leave two weeks in sending the Atlantic fleet through the canal to sink the entire Jap fleet, before they have time to gather.

The girl behind the counter can tell exactly how good the shows are after their first performance, without seeing them and can also give information on how the Janesville men feel if the barbers raise the price of a hair cut to thirty-five cents.

The counter orator has come to stay, the attendant behind the show case is a good listener if the patron tell exactly how good the shows are after their first performance, without seeing them and can also give information on how the Janesville men feel if the barbers raise the price of a hair cut to thirty-five cents.

It is often wondered if the clerk often does not want to put a liberal amount of cotton in his or her ears.

Sport Snap Shots

Jack Johnson demands $30,000 for his fight with Frank Moran, regardless of the outcome of the fight, win, lose or draw. Also he gets $5,000 for training expenses. Quite a sort of a bundle for the colored, so-called, champ, and yet come to think of it the prices were the same when Johnson fought Tommy Burns for the belt some years ago. At that fight Burns got the $30,000 guarantee and Johnson got $5,000. Frank Moran is to get $5,000 in his fight with Johnson, but Moran and his manager, Dan McKelrick, plan to survive enough white hope at last. It is to be hoped by friends of McCarty that he has copied off a winner at last. McCarty's career as a manager in the fight game has not been one long path of primroses and affluence. McCarty has won the reputation of being one of the most unfortunate managers that ever undertook to steer a fighter to fame and shekels. He almost landed the Jeffries-Johnson fight, which made a neat little fortune for those promoting it. That was in 1909. Then he again almost landed the Volgas-Nelson fight, but missed and managed to hang on as a press agent. He then planned to make a fortune out of the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures, but many cities prohibited their showing and, as Johnson won, the pictures were a big loss. He started to manage Jack Heinen, a heavyweight, but Heinen was knocked out by Luther McCarty. McCarty picked up with McCarty and though he made quite a bit on Luther he spent most of it in boot-licking, hoping to get it back later. McCarty was killed before McCarty was able to sign him up for any of the big purses. Later McCarty was killed by a drunk driver at Cringle Creek. He was threatened with total blindness for a while, but now that he is recovering he expects to get back at the game and make money. Those who have seen Norton perform declare that he can prove a better bet than McCarty. And McCarty may be disappointed upon to try and make the prediction come to pass.

Gary Owgust Herrmann, well-known owner of the Cincinnati Reds and popular member of the national commission, declares that every man playing with the Federal league this season will be forever after barred from organized baseball.

Billy McCarty, one-time promoter and manager of Luther McCarty, is offering another white hope. This new one is named Al Norton, and his manager declares that here is a real

GET ABLE REFEREE TO RUN OFF BOUTS BEFORE LOCAL CLUB

Directors of Athletic Club Confident That Dan Hyde Will Do His Share in Thursday's Contests.

When Dan Hyde, known as the king of referees in this section of the country, sets the boxers aging in the court, he is not only a referee, but a referee. He is the Myers tomorrow night, the fans should witness the fastest matches that have been staged in this section for some years. The directors of the club are jubilant over the fact that Hyde has been secured as the third man in the ring, for he is an old-time lightweight boxer and was no dub at the game when wearing the ring spangles. Hyde was also a fast ball player and is regarded as the best official in the state, knowing how to handle the boxers from his own ring experience.

BOTH OF THESE WOMEN OWE HEALTH TO PERUNA.

Mrs. O. D. Robinson, No. 36 St. Felix St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I have taken Peruna and it did me more good than all my two years treatment by special physicians. I can really say that I feel like another person. No more swollen feet and limbs. No more bloating of the abdomen. No more shortness of breath. No more stiff and sore joints."

Sick Headache Relieved.

Miss Nettie E. Bogardus, R. F. D. 21, Westfield, N. Y., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from sick headaches, but am now entirely free from that trouble. I have not felt so well in ten years as I do now. I would recommend Peruna and Manalin to all sufferers." Read Miss Bogardus' testimonial over again. You will note that she says she has been a great sufferer from sick headache. Well, there is nothing peculiar about that. Thousands and hundreds of thousands of people have been and are great sufferers from sick headache. But this is the point in the testimonial that ought to create a great deal of attention. She says: "I am now entirely free from sick headache." And she gives the credit to Peruna and Manalin. Read this, you great multitude of women and men also, who have been for years victims of sick headache. If you do not believe it is true write Miss Bogardus and find out the truth. Every one interested in the subject of sick headache should read the article on page 18 of the "Pills of Life." Address Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. very large but the directors declare that it is worth it. "Poey Williams, who was to meet 'Bearcat' Ward of Beloit, resigned his position, declaring that he would be unable to make the weight, and Young Scotty, a star preliminary fighter of Milwaukee, promises that he will make the Beloit hope forget his ambitions in the first bout of the card. Word has been received from both Young Sharkey of Milwaukee and Bud Corbett, Burlington, that they were down to weight and with today's finishing touches will be ready for the scales tomorrow afternoon. The managers are not certain of the weight of Gordon Russell, the pride of Rockford, but Joe Perente of Madison will be in Janesville tomorrow morning. All the boxers must submit to a medical examination, and Dr. G. C. Wauke has been appointed to pass on the men's fitness and physical ability to stand the pace. The boxers will weigh in at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the law compels that there shall not be ten pounds difference between the contesting fighters. All the men are expected to be in Janesville by tomorrow noon for the examinations.

SEVEN SCHOOL FIVES ALREADY ENTER MEET

Janesville Enter Quintet, as Do Elkhorn and Edgerton—Tourney Promises to Be Fast One.

Beloit College tournament officials, who are managing the annual meet at Smith gymnasium in the line city, announce that seven high school fives from Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois have already entered. Curtis of Janesville has agreed to enter his high school five, which is perhaps the best among the teams among the list of entries at present. Elkhorn and Edgerton, the two teams who gave Janesville such a rub this season, the former five defeating the Bower City quintet last Friday night, are in line for the cup. Other teams entered are: Delavan, Evansville, Belvidere and Beloit.

Two cups will be presented as before to the teams capturing first and second prize. The management expects to receive entries from as many as five or six more schools, as they sent out a second budget of letters yesterday to various strong fives throughout Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois. It is hoped that Fremont will enter, together with Galesburg, Sloughton, Monroe, De Kalb, Rockford and Aurora. The tourney at Beloit is not far off, the dates bringing the first games on March 5th, a week from tomorrow. The tourney is scheduled for three days this year, instead of two, as has been the case before. This will make a faster tourney, for the reason that teams will not be worked to death through being forced to play two games in one day.

WALTER BAUMAN HAS HAD VARIED CAREER

Milwaukee Boxer Who Meets Willie Schaeffer Thursday Night An All Around Athlete.

Walter Bauman, who meets Willie Schaeffer in the amateur circle at the first show of the Bower City Athletic club Thursday evening, is an all around athlete, boxer, base ball player, football enthusiast, wrestler, he has tried them all. The cartoon by Cad Brand of the Milwaukee Sentinel, drawn to accompany an article by A. J. Schinner, in last Sunday's Sentinel will give the fan some idea of Bauman's qualifications. Schaeffer is already in town and Bauman arrives tomorrow. Both are in the pink of condition and ready for the contest of their lives. Bauman has a long string of victories to his credit and will be a hard man to beat.

Bauman's athletic career started in 1900, playing sand lot baseball in Milwaukee, and his training here worked up the fighting instincts which resulted in his changing to the boxing game and winning several amateur tournaments. As he grew older he switched into the wrestling game and his best match in this game was against Demetris at Larkin's gym, Milwaukee, where he wrestled the "Terrible Greek" for nearly two hours before he finally won. For this feat he received seven dollars and gave Demetris two tin ears, and laid him up in the hospital for two months. The wrestling game was too full of $7 purses and he started in the boxing game. His list of victims includes such men as Sander Moorehead and Sailor Kelly. He fought Clabby a six round draw recently.

Not only in the fight game does Bauman shine, for during the summer he plays ball with the Green Bay team in the Wisconsin-Illinois league and leads with the team. Various at different periods, he has been a boxer, handball player, baseball star, swimmer, gridiron hero, wrestler and indoor baseball shark, and was a success at all the games. Bauman at present is twenty-four years of age and is of a pure German strain and is a true blue, Milwaukee product, having resided in the Cream City all his life. Nature gave him a wonderful physique and by clean living he has developed his physique into a warrior with great success. As a boxer he is staging to come back after two years out of the padded circle and it is evident that he has recovered his old form, for last week he took Jack Leppor in just three rounds. Fans in Janesville who know him and his Milwaukee backers expect him to take Schaeffer, the Chicago glove artist, into camp tomorrow night.

ELECT OFFICERS IN NEW CHURCH LEAGUE

Stowe Lovejoy Is Chosen President of Basketball League, With D. D. Manross as Secretary.

The new church basketball league is now fully organized, following the election of officers and committees today at a meeting of the board of control. Stowe Lovejoy, coach of the Congregational five, was elected president of the league, by a unanimous vote. D. D. Manross, of the high school faculty, and coach of the Methodist quintet, was chosen secretary.

Three committees were elected for the year. An eligibility committee composed of Francis Blair, chairman; Rev. Hazen and a third member to be appointed later, will look after the qualifications of any players and see that they are qualified in accordance with the rules set. No player can participate in the games, Friday night, unless he be approved of by this committee.

A schedule committee composed of prof. G. W. Curtis, chairman; and Captains Mearns and Cronin of the Presbyterian and Catholic fives, respectively, will keep track of the games played, and determine any changes in the schedule which may be found necessary.

The third committee, namely the protest makers, is composed of D. D. Manross, chairman, Harry Ranous, the Trinity team's coach, and Capt. Edgar of the Baptist five. They will file all protests brought about during the season, regarding the ineligibility of a player, or for any other cause.

With three committees of this sort, it is evident that the league is going to be run right. It is undecided just what time the games will be staged Friday, but it is expected that the schedule committee will report by tomorrow.

ALLAN RICH BREAKS EVEN IN TWO MATCHES

By defeating Hinder, 125 to 86, Allan Rich broke even, as he was defeated by Fleek in his second match. Hinder was off form last night and should have given the victor a closer run for his victory. In the second match Fleek, handicapped below Rich, surprised the fans by defeating Rich by a safe margin. Summary. Hinder (135) 86 Rich (125) 125 Fleek (100) 150 Rich (125) 123 Standing. W. L. ## We're Hammering Away At This Fact

STANDARD is the best tobacco in the world for big, strong manly men. It was put on the market purposely to please this kind of man. We first marketed it fifty years ago; it has been the favorite of men of vim and vigor ever since.

It is pure Kentucky tobacco, carefully and naturally aged for three to five years so as to bring out all its mellow, natural richness and honest sweetness. It is a rich, full-bodied tobacco that thoroughly satisfies a powerful man's tobacco-hunger.

STANDARD Long Cut Tobacco

Take the case of the blacksmith. When he wants tobacco satisfaction, he cannot get it out of "flat" insipid mixtures. He has got to have a man's size real old natural he-tobacco.

We have the greatest tobacco organization in the world and are in business to stay in business—by giving the best values. STANDARD is only one of our many brands, but like all it is the "highest quality—biggest quantity" of its kind sold.

We tell the big, brawny men of this country that STANDARD is the best tobacco for them on the market and they know they can bank on that statement.

A week's trial of STANDARD will prove it. Smoke a pipeful of STANDARD today.

Sold everywhere in 5-cent packages.

Other sizes, 10c, 15c, 30c and 35c Packages.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair Wednesday and probably Thursday, rising temperature.

THE LENTEN PERIOD.

Today marks the opening of the Lenten period. For forty days we observe the fasting of our Lord on the Mount. For forty days the world does penance. We are asked, "What is Lent?" Rev. W. T. Lipton answers for us as follows:

The word itself is derived from a Saxon word which means "Spring." Etymologically the Lenten season means the spring season, and has no spiritual significance. We, however, give it a spiritual character by the use we make of it.

It is a spiritual spring-time when a deep, full plowing into the consciences of the people—when a generous sowing of the Word of God—will later on bring forth a rich harvest of souls, sanctified and made like unto the Son of God, and of deeds holy and good, like His.

It is a time when a man puts his soul on trial; examines rigorously its motives and doings; judges it by what God requires, and sees where it stands in its progress heavenward.

It is a time when we enter, as it were, a cloud which hides the world and its vanities from view, that in communion with God we may learn how best to resist the every-day temptations which waylay us from birth to death.

It is a time when the repentant soul, like the Prodigal Son, arises and goes home to his Father, and says, "I have sinned," and feels the joy of forgiveness in His loving embrace and kiss.

It is a time of spiritual refreshment for honest souls seeking God.

It is commemorative of the forty days of fasting and prayer which our Saviour spent in the wilderness—and during this season we learn the wilderness lessons of life.

It is the preparation for the great Feast of Easter—the festival of victory over sin and death, and every one who keeps Lent well can rejoice in the victories that have secured to him a "risen life."

OLD AS THE HILLS.

Ever since the reformers began reforming Wisconsin, raising the taxes and increasing the cost of government by useless commissions, the nation has heard much of the Wisconsin Idea. Politicians have made much capital of the phrase and it remained for the Evening Wisconsin to puncture the air bubble of their conceit by explaining that these same ideas have been borrowed from other tyrannical forms of government that have fallen by their own weight centuries ago.

If these politicians would but think for themselves they would see that it is one of the oldest and mustiest things extant—that all the patent schemes for legislating happiness and prosperity into the multitude have been tried out and discredited time and again, by practically every civilized country on earth, not to mention the barbarous countries in which the idea had birth.

There were laws regulating wages—laws fixing prices—laws prescribing the number of apprentices a master might have—laws controlling everything done by man, woman or child to say nothing of the laws taxing everything from sunlight to hard cider. There isn't a commission in Wisconsin whose prototype did not exist two thousand years ago; not a feature of the whole idea but has been worn threadbare as an instrument of tyranny by nations now in ruins.

OUR FOREIGN SERVANTS.

Ever since the Wilson administration took possession of the reins of government there has been a demand for office on the part of the "faithful" so long deprived the privilege of feeding at the public trough. Every possible excuse for removing efficient public servants who have been tinged with the taint of republicanism has been taken, both at home and abroad so that the democrats could be satisfied. The Chicago Tribune has at last woken up to the real situation and under the caption "Our Servants Abroad," says of Secretary Bryan's policies as follows:

Mr. Bryan's theory that the experience of being a good democrat is sufficient for foreign service is getting a thorough test. Whatever may be said of our new emissaries to foreign parts they must be admitted that they conform to Jacksonian principles. There is not the taint of irregularity in them. Many of them are graduates of the cracker barrel and dried apple school of diplomacy. Prior to appointment many of them never exhibited a greater profundity in foreign affairs than to remark, lighting a stogie: "I see they're having trouble in Russia."

But they all conform and we are "turning the rascals out" to put the conformists in. The "rascals" have been years in the foreign service and have won promotion on merit, but that does not matter. It will take years after the retirement of Mr. Bryan to repair the damage done to the service, but that does not matter. The important thing is to find place for the faithful.

Rock county citizens have shown their confidence in the Park Association directors by subscribing some thousands of dollars for them to handle for the benefit of a fair to be held here next August. More money is needed to insure its success, but the men behind the guns are to be trusted to expend it judiciously and we will have the fair.

Next on the program is the Mid-Winter Fair. Janesville used to be noted for this exhibit, time was when farmers drove miles to be present and there is no need that such should not be the case this year. The right men are behind the project, so get your shoulder to the wheels and help shove. The band wagon will start playing shortly.

First come, first served, is apparently the idea of the candidates for the office of commissioner to be named at the coming April election. One man can be chosen and from present accounts there are a dozen at least seeking the job. May the best man win.

Tax Commissioner Haugen thanks the Gazette for its unbiased report of his address in the recent public address. He should not have done that, for the news columns are divorced from the editorial. While the Gazette may not approve of all Mr. Haugen said, still in justice to himself he was reported honestly and fairly without discrimination and so will any other public speaker. Mr. Haugen represents one interest of state affairs with which the Gazette finds difference and it is to be hoped that before long Mr. Haugen will be compelled to view matters through the same spectacles as does the Gazette.

It looks as though the truth about the taxation question was going to come out on Saturday next, when the men who are interested in this question assemble to discuss affairs.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

The school is receiving several additional commercial exhibits and a sectional meeting of rural teachers on Saturday, March 21. This meeting occurs in Janesville. Principal Lowth will act as the chairman of the rural section.

The members of the training faculty will take part in a program for teachers at Orlorville, Feb. 28. Miss Jacobson will talk on "The Use of Pictures in the Grades."

Rock county has three rural schools transporting the children to neighborhood districts. Its the only system and may the day come when consolidation will be studied with consolidated schools.

Isabelle Marshall of Milwaukee Junction, who has been out of school for two weeks on account of sickness, is back in her place again.

Miss Margaret Arneson comes and goes from and to Beloit each day on the Interurban road.

Thirteen graduates of the training school were present Saturday at the conference.

A new Sir Galahad picture, presented by the class of 1913, will be hung in Miss Jacobson's room this week. It is an American carbon.

Principal Lowth is in receipt of a letter from Alice Lowery, who is teaching at a country school in Iowa. Her address is Leavast, Iowa. Miss Lowery attended the training school for two years.

The school management class has recently been making a study of the Jackreid Stone. The training school would like to hear from teachers who are having trouble with their heating and ventilating systems. The school management class completes its work in May or June.

WANTS $50,000 FOR PELLAGRA HOSPITAL

Dr. Rupert Blue.

Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the U. S. public health service, has just presented to the secretary of the treasury an exhaustive report on the ravages of the mysterious disease known as pellagra. In his opinion this disease is a grave menace to the national health and a recommendation of the secretary of the treasury will ask congress for an appropriation of $50,000 for the establishment of a special hospital in the South where cases of the disease may be treated and studied.

Lyric and Majestic Theaters

We have been criticised for censoring our shows ourselves. Some think that we should show the current productions as they come, and let the public be the censors. How do YOU want to be a censor? Do you want to see the things that are prohibited in other cities, and decide whether they are good or bad? Or would you rather enter a theater with the knowledge that what you see will be CLEAN?

Tonight we have two reel pictures that were picked out by the Chicago Tribune as "Best Stories" on Feb. 13 and 20. The first, "Sophie Picks a Dead One," is a screamingly funny comedy without being coarse. The other is "The Other Girl," one of those masterly productions in which Francis X. Bushman plays the leading role. Pathe Weekly at the Lyric only, and "The Mistress of His House" at the Majestic only.

Tomorrow is Vitagraph Day, with such players as Maurice Costello, Clara Kimball Young, Little Helen and Dolores Costello, Edith Storey, Ned Finley, Norma Talmadge, Leo Delaney, Jane Fearnley, etc. And as an extra attraction an Edison with Mary Fuller will be shown at the Lyric. See the Tribune of Feb. 14.

"On the Lazy Line," coming Friday, will surely please you if you like comedies.

"Norke's Drift," in the Tribune of the 13th, comes Saturday, and on a week from Saturday, the fourth, of the "Kathryn" series.

HOSTILE LOVE.

Of all the brilliant characterizations with which Arnold Bennett has delighted us, I think I like best his description of the "hostile love" which existed between Hilda Lessways and her mother.

These two women, as you remember, lived alone together for many years. They loved each other tenderly and yet at times they irritated and wore on each other to the verge of desperation. In short, there existed between them that peculiar hostile love which made them antagonize and criticize each other constantly despite the fact that each loved the other more than anyone else in the world.

It seems to me that this phrase is a perfect description of the feeling that so often exists between housemates. We love the father or mother, son or daughter, sister or brother, husband or wife, with all our hearts. The bare thought of death in connection with them fills us with a sickness of heart that is physical in its intensity. We would be capable of almost any heroic sacrifice for their sake, and yet we aren't capable of the simple sacrifice of tolerance and patience. Their peculiarities wear on us, their little ways get on our nerves and we are filled with that hostile love that makes us continually cavil and carp and criticize even though all the time they are very dear to us.

Someone has said:

"We've a kindly word for the stranger
And a smile for the sometime guest,
But for our own the angry tone,
Though we love our own the best."

And so it is in all too many homes.

I know a conscientious, sensitive and high strung girl who loves her mother with an unusual love and tenderness. And yet even into this great love the element of hostility creeps; and again and again she finds herself nagging and criticizing the dear mother. "I'm so ashamed of myself," she told me once, "when I find myself scolding mother for some of her funny little ways. It makes her unhappy, but not half so unhappy as it makes me afterwards."

We are queer, solitary self-assertive creatures, we human beings. They talk about the gregariousness of man meaning that man was meant to live in families, but sometimes I wonder if we couldn't be happier if it were possible for each of us to live a separate existence in a separate house.

I think there are a great many homes in which the inability to keep from nagging the genuinely loved housemates is really a tragedy.

Furthermore, I think in a great many cases the cause is that the people concerned see too much of each other. It is one of the bad tendencies of the age that most of us are afraid of being alone. I think we need more aloneness. We can't have a separate cell in which to live, but we can have a separate room, and that room our castle. No member of the family should enter mother's room without knocking. There should be less familiarity and intimacy even between housemates, more respect for the desire for occasional privacy and aloneness.

Rub any two objects together very hard and you get what? Friction. Well, isn't it the same with souls? The more freedom and respect of privacy and personality that you find in a home, the less you will find of hostile love.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

During the winter, while oranges and grapefruit are abundant, is the time to make our marmalade.

Grape Fruit Marmalade.—Wash and wipe three each of grape fruit, oranges and lemons. Throw away the thick end pieces and cut the remainder into very thin slices. Reject all the fiber and thick tissue, and for each measure of fruit allow three of water. Put into a kettle and stand well covered for 24 hours. Then put on to the range and cook one hour; then add an equal measure of sugar, allowing a little more for good measure. After the boiling point has been reached allow the marmalade to simmer until it jells. Pour into glasses and seal with paraffine.

Fresh Coconut Cake.—Cream two tablespoonsful of butter, add one cup of light brown sugar. Beat in one whole egg and one yolk; add three-fourths of a cup of milk alternately with two cupsful of flour mixed with two spoonfuls of baking powder. Pour into a square tin and bake in a moderate oven. When cool, cover with the following icing: Boil together a cup of brown sugar with a third of a cup of water until the sirup will spin a thread. Have ready a well beaten egg white, and add this sirup by tablespoonsful, beating all the while. Spread on the cake and sprinkle thickly with freshly grated coconut.

Apple Kuchen.—Sift two cupsful of flour with one-half teaspoonful of salt, two spoonfuls of sugar and two spoonfuls of baking powder. Cut into this four tablespoonfuls of shortening; add a beaten egg and three-fourths of a cup of milk. Put this into a well greased pan and place baking apples, pared and cored and cut in eighths overlapping over the top. Bake until nearly done, take out and sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon and bits of butter. Return to the oven and bake until a rich brown. Serve while warm.

PANAMA PROPHECY CONFOUNDED.

There are a lot of prophets in the United States who will have to eat crow during the next year or two. One of them declared that it would cost a billion dollars to build the Panama Canal, and that his experience as an engineer in Chicago had proved it. Colonel Goethals has stuck to his original estimates of 1903, and the billion dollar gentleman may go hang while the world celebrates the removal of 232,000,000 cubic yards of material at no greater outlay than it was estimated that 135,000,000 cubic yards could be removed for.

Then there are the fellows who saw in the slides the Waterloo of American ambition at Panama. As a matter of fact the canal engineers experienced far more trouble from the effect that those slides had on the American mind than from its effects on the canal work itself. They knew that bulldog persistence would tell the story, but the people seemingly did not believe them.

As a matter of fact there never has been a piece of work where engineers have taken nothing for granted so much as at Panama. They have known all along that they had to face great difficulties, but they knew that they had a solution for every one of them. The completed canal is the world's greatest engineering project as well as its safest. The literature of the construction period is filled with pessimistic prophecy, but the success of the undertaking has been as great as the forebodings were gloomy. The whole story of the canal is best told in the new book by Frederic J. Haskin, whose construction chapters bear the Goethals O. K. for accuracy and dependability. ### Some Men Are Like That.

"There was my Uncle Dick McKittick, for instance," related Hap Hazard. "He spent half his life in collecting a table top out of 29,851 different pieces of wood and the rest of his life in bragging about it."

The Secret of Beauty — FREE

A Masterpiece in color by C. Allen Gilbert the well known artist

We will send in all users of GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, a copy of Mr. Gilbert's beautiful painting entitled "The Secret of Beauty," in panel form 11 x 22 inches. It is a splendid reproduction on highly coated paper of one of the artist's figures. Mr. Gilbert is noted for his art is not marred by any printed matter which would prevent framing. Send in stamps to cover wrapping and postage. We are confident you will be highly pleased with the picture and calendar and find it a valued addition to your library or den.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream

It purifies, beautifies and preserves the skin. Relieves blemishes, and gives that clear, pearly white complexion so much admired. It is a liquid non-greasy preparation that nourishes the skin and protects it from the disagreeable weather of all seasons.

Women Worth While

MRS. T. P. O'CONNOR.

"Being myself a writer of industry, and not a writer of talent," says Mrs. T. P. O'Connor of England and America, one of the most brilliant women of the day, "I always advise my friends to try their prentice hands at books, knowing from experience what sheer industry apart from genius can accomplish."

Despite this modest appraisal of herself, Mrs. O'Connor possesses, as everyone knows, literary gifts of a high order. But she one gift that is better still, that transcends the best form of literary expression of which she has achieved. This is the gift of a vivid, compelling personality. Together with a richly emotional nature, it has tinged both her life and her writings with the colors of the rainbow, and with a thrilling sort of romanticism.

Mrs. O'Connor as Betsy Paschal, daughter of the late Judge George Paschal, made her debut in Washington at the age of sixteen. A newspaper account of that day says: "Since Miss Harlan Lane's reign at the White House, the belle of the capital has been divided among numberless pretty girls, but this year the honor, an undivided one, will fall to a new debutante, Miss Betsy Paschal."

And so, young Betty Paschal danced her way through a maze of girlhood triumphs into the responsibilities of womanhood. When scarcely out of her girlhood years she was left a widow with a little son to educate. A few months before her father's death she made at his insistence and for his peace of mind a supreme renunciation, giving up an advantageous opportunity to win for herself a career on the stage. Some years later, after she had become a hard working journalist in New York, she was married to the brilliant young Irishman and radical member of parliament, T. P. O'Connor.

At the time of Mrs. O'Connor's marriage prejudice closed many English doors to Nationalist members of parliament, but Mrs. O'Connor was a man's received as a southerner from these United States. In the drawing room of Lady St. Helier, at that time one of the most interesting in London, she met leaders in politics, art and letters. Her book "Myself" sparkles with reminiscences of such people as Justin McCarthy, Baroness Burdett-Coutts, Harold Frederic, George Bernard Shaw, Beerbohm Tree, Mr. and Mrs. Labouchere.

words of the author, "a slender chain between England and America" and a romantic and charming appreciation of the southern states.

At present Mrs. O'Connor is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Minnie H. Pilling of Washington.

How To Grow Long Beautiful Hair

By a Hair Specialist.

It is not hard to stop the hair from falling out and promote its growth if the right means are used. There is no hope for the scalp where the hair roots are dead and the scalp is aching. However, to those who have not reached this condition, immediate steps should be taken to stop it before it is too late. Here is a simple recipe which you can make at home, that will stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and eradicate scalp eruptions and scalp humors. I know of cases where the hair has grown from four to five inches in a few months after using this simple recipe: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 oz. of glycerine, and apply to the hair, rubbing with the finger tips, two or three times a week. These ingredients can be obtained at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home. This recipe not only promotes the growth of the hair but darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Before using a new saucepan fill it with water, with a lump of soda and some potato peelings, and let it boil a few hours. Then wash out thoroughly and all danger from poisoning from the tinned lining will be gone.

When boiling fowls or fish add to the water in which they are boiled the juice of half a lemon. This will make them beautifully white.

If bacon is soaked in water for a few minutes before frying it will prevent the fat from running.

To raise bread in cold weather, fill the dishpan nearly full with hot water, lay a wood bread board on it and set the bread on it after you have put it in the pans. Then cover the whole pan with a double cloth. The bread will rise as quickly as in warm weather.

THE TABLE.
Spinach Souffle—Boil two pounds of spinach in salted water until tender, then drain and press through a sieve. Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add the spinach, the yolks of three eggs, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and let boil up once. Then remove from the stove and fold in the frothed whites of three eggs and a dash of lemon juice.

Turn into the souffle cases and bake in a moderate oven for ten minutes.

Charlotte Russe.—Soak one-third of a package of gelatin in three tablespoonsful of cold water, pour over a pint of hot milk and stir until the gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Add one-half teaspoonful of sugar which has been beaten with the yolks of three eggs. Strain the mixture and when cool stir in one quart of whipped cream, the frothed whites of three eggs and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour into a mold lined with slices of sponge cake and put on the ice. Serve in tall glasses garnished with whipped cream.

Oil Dressing.—One and one-half teaspoonfuls of mustard, one teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of powdered sugar, few grains of cayenne, two tablespoonfuls of oil, one-third cup of vinegar diluted with cold water to make one-half cup, two eggs slightly beaten. Mix the ingredients, add the egg and the oil gradually, stirring constantly until thoroughly mixed, then add the diluted vinegar. Cook over boiling water until the mixture thickens; strain and cool.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM AT CARRIERS' MEETING

Six Delegates Are Chosen to Represent Rock County Rural Carriers at State Convention.

An enthusiastic meeting marked the procedure at the annual session of the Rock County Rural Carriers' Association Monday afternoon at two o'clock in the postoffice building, at which time about thirty members were in attendance.

An election of officers was the first number on the program. All of the old officers were re-elected. They are: Fred Hart, Beloit, president; F. W. Gifford, Janesville, secretary; and Henry Wille of Edgerton, as treasurer.

Three new members were elected into the Rock County Association at the meeting. They are Fred T. H. Belloit; George Anderson, Clinton; and Maitland E. Palmer of Janesville. Miss Caroline M. Palmer was chosen as an honorary member of the association.

One of the interesting features of the meeting was the selection of six delegates to represent the county carriers at the state convention to be held in Green Bay on May 19th and 20th. H. A. Palmer, Janesville; O. S. Kenyon, Sharon; H. F. Wille, Edgerton; J. C. Anderson, Milton; E. C. Williams and F. W. Hart, both of Beloit, were the six men chosen to visit the state.

The alternates to fill in case any of the six regular delegates cannot go to the state meeting were chosen as follows: Hamblett, Orlondville; Person of Lima; C. H. Smith, Janesville; F. W. Gifford, Milton; Dockhorn, Avon, and Potter of Milton Junction.

On the Way.

The man who sits around waiting for somebody else to discover and develop his ability is sure sooner or later to become a wearisome grumbler.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends indigestion, Gas, Dyspepsia and Stomach Misery in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes. Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will get them but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

The Ladies Aid of the German Lutheran church presented Mrs. Seeman with a glass plate and bowl and a sum of money was presented by the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crall spent Tuesday at the home of Eli Crall.

Camel Flesh. The Bedouins eat the flesh of the camel and as a mark of distinction slaughter a camel when a noted guest visits them. Camel flesh is also eaten by Mohammedan peasants, and the poorer classes of Mohammedan city people of Jaffa and Gaza. The skins are used as a rawhide to sole the shoes worn by peasants.

Fear the Small Temptations. Fear small temptations rather than great ones. These only come now and then; those every day. Beware of being witty at the expense of reverence, sarcastic at the expense of charity, entertaining at the expense of truth, coarse at the expense of purity.

A TREAT IF CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, SICK, USE GENTLE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Delicious "fruit laxative" cleans stomach, liver and bowels of old and young folks.

A harmless cure for sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, coated tongue, salivaceousness—take "California Syrup of Figs." For the cause of all such misery comes from a torpid liver and sluggish bowels. "California Syrup of Figs." is a most effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, regulator, and tonic ever devised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting the genuine, so ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups," so watch out.

Automobile Edition Of The Gazette Saturday Evening, February 28th

A History Maker. The Biggest Exploitation of Automobiles Ever Attempted in Janesville.

Janesville is the largest automobile distributing center in Southern Wisconsin. It would be impossible to better illustrate this fact than as will be shown in the twelve-page automobile edition that both the Daily and Semi-Weekly issues of this paper will carry next Saturday evening.

The trend of popular favor will be shown throughout the entire number.

Advertisements of all models and makes of cars sold in this territory, as well as accessories, supplies, motorcycles, oils and greases, and auto apparel will be printed on each of the twelve pages.

All in all, the edition will be more than worth the time you will spend in looking it over. If you are figuring on a new car this season don't overlook a single page.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—They'll soon get Grace in a peck of trouble—

LOCAL WOMAN NOW A BIG ADVERTISER

When one of our woman customers recently bought five bottles of Harmony Hair Beautifier to give to her friends for Christmas, she started all by herself a mighty big advertising campaign, because not only does each one of the women to whom she gave a bottle of the Beautifier now consider it indispensable for the proper care of the hair, but each of them has been the means of getting several of her friends to use it. As a consequence, if things keep on in this way for a few months longer, we will be selling more of it than all other hair preparations combined. Sprinkle a little Harmony Hair Beautifier on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us, Smith Drug Co., 14 West Milwaukee St., Janesville, Wis.

RESINOL WILL STOP THAT ITCH

Brings Instant Relief and Quickly Clears Away Skin Eruptions.

No matter how long you have been tortured and disgusted by itching, burning, raw or scaly skin humors, just put a little of that soothing, antiseptic Resinol Ointment on the sores and the suffering stops right there! Healing begins that very minute, and your skin gets well so quickly you feel ashamed of the money you threw away on useless, tedious treatments.

Wherever drugs are sold, you can be just as sure of finding Resinol Ointment as you can of finding a toothbrush. This is because doctors have prescribed it so regularly for the last eighteen years that every druggist knows he must keep it constantly in stock. It comes in opal jars, for fifty cents and one dollar, or you can try it at our expense. Resinol Ointment is most effective for healing sores, boils, wounds and ulcers. Write today to Dept. 5-31, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a sample of Resinol Ointment and a miniature cake of Resinol Soap.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Janesville Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Janesville, who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Janesville kidney sufferers.

Mrs. Mohns, 310 N. Academy St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I was suffering from an attack of kidney trouble. I went to the People's Drug Co. and got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills. One or two boxes cured the ailments. I haven't had any sign of the trouble since. Others of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills with very satisfactory results."

A LASTING CURE. On July 2, 1913, when Mrs. Mohns was interviewed she said: "I haven't had any trouble from my kidneys since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me several years ago. I willingly give you permission to continue publishing my former statement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

"No sense," she said, without looking at him.

Hetty met them at the top of the steps. The electric porch lights had just been turned on by the butler. The girl stood in the path of the light. Booth was never to forget the loveliness of her in that moment. He carried the image with him on the long walk home through the black night. (He declined Sara's offer to send him over in the car for the very reason that he wanted the half-hour of solitude in which to concentrate all the impressions she had made on his fancy.)

The three of them stood there for a few minutes, awaiting the butler's announcement. Sara's arm was about Hetty's shoulders. He was so taken up with the picture they presented that he scarcely heard their light chatter. They were types of loveliness so full of contrast that he marveled at the power of nature to create women in the same mold and yet to model so differently.

As they entered the vestibule, a servant came up with the word that Miss Castleton was wanted at the telephone, "long distance from New York."

The girl stopped in her tracks. Booth looked at her in mild surprise, a condition which gave way to an instant later to perplexity. The look of annoyance in her eyes could not be disguised or mistaken.

"Ask him to call me up later, Watson," she said quietly.

"This is the third time he has called, Miss Castleton," said the man. "You were dressing, if you please, ma'am, the first time."

"I will come," she interrupted sharply, with a curious glance at Sara, who for some reason avoided meeting Booth's gaze.

"Tell him we shall expect him on Friday," said Mrs. Wendall.

"By George!" thought Booth, as she left them. "I wonder if it can be Leslie. If it is—well, he wouldn't be flattered if he could have seen the look in her eyes."

Later on, he had no trouble in gathering that it was Leslie Wendall who called, but he was very much in the dark as to the meaning of that expressive look. He only knew that she was in the telephone room for ten minutes or longer, and that all trace of emotion was gone from her face when she rejoined them with a brief apology for keeping them waiting.

He left at ten-thirty, saying good night to them on the terrace. Sara walked to the steps with him.

"Don't you think her voice is lovely?" she asked. Hetty had sung for them.

"I dare say," he responded absently. "Give you my word, though, I wasn't thinking of her voice. She is lovely."

He walked home as if in a dream. The spell was on him.

Far in the night, he started up from the easy chair in which he had been smoking and dreaming and racking his brain by turns.

"By Jove!" he exclaimed aloud. "I remember! I've got it! And tomorrow I'll prove it."

Then he went to bed, with the storm from the sea pounding about the house, and slept serenely until Pat and Mary wondered whether he meant to get up at all.

"Pat," said he at breakfast, "I want you to go to the city this morning and fetch out all of the studios you can find about the place. The old ones are in that Italian hall seat and the late ones are in the studio. Bring all of them."

"There's a devil of a bunch of them," said Pat ruefully.

He was not to begin sketching the figure until the following day. After luncheon, however, he had an appointment to inspect Hetty's wardrobe, ostensibly for the purpose of picking out a gown for the picture. "As a matter of fact, he had decided the point to his own satisfaction the night before. She should pose for him in the dainty white dress she had worn on that occasion."

While they were going over the extensive assortment of gowns, with Sara as the judge from whom there seemed to be no appeal, he casually inquired if she had ever posed before.

He watched her closely as he put the question. She was holding up a beautiful point lace creation for his inspection, and there was a pleading smile on her lips. It must have been her favorite gown. The smile faded away. The hand that dangled the garment before his eyes suddenly became motionless, as if paralyzed. In the next instant, she recovered herself, and, giving the lace a quick flip that sent its odor of sachet-leaping to his nostrils, responded with perfect composure.

"Isn't there a distinction between posing for an artist, and sitting for one's portrait?" she asked.

He was silent. The fact that he did not respond seemed to disturb her after a moment or two. She made the common mistake of pressing the question.

"Why do you ask?" was her inquiry. When it was too late she wished she had not uttered the words. He had caught the somewhat anxious note in her voice.

"We always ask that, I think," he said. "It's a habit."

"Oh," she said doubtfully.

"And by the way, you haven't answered."

She was busy with the gown for a time. At last she looked him full in the face.

"That's true," she agreed; "I haven't answered, have I? No, Mr. Booth, I've never posed for a portrait. It is a new experience for me. You will have to contend with a great deal of stupidity on my part. But I shall try to be plastic."

He uttered a polite protest, and pursued the question no farther. Her answer had been so palpably evasive.

The next morning at ten he was at Southlook, arranging his easel and canvas in the north end of the long living room, where the light from the tall French windows afforded abundant and well-distributed light for the enterprise in hand. Hetty had not yet appeared. Sara, attired in a loose morning gown, was watching him from a comfortable chair in the corner, one shapely bare arm behind her head; the free hand was gracefully employed in managing a cigarette. He was conscious of the fact that her lazy, half-alert gaze was upon him all the time, although she pretended to be entirely indifferent to the preparations. Dimly he could see the faint smile of interest on her lips.

Hetty came in, calm, serene and lovelier than ever, in the clear morning light. She was wearing the simple white gown he had chosen the day before. If she was conscious of the rather intense scrutiny he bestowed upon her as she gave him her hand in greeting, she did not appear to be in the least disturbed.

"You may go away, Sara," she said firmly. "I shall be too dreadfully self-conscious if you are looking on."

Booth looked at her rather sharply. Sara indolently abandoned her comfortable chair and left them alone in the room.

"Shall we try a few effects, Miss Castleton?" he inquired, after a period of constraint that had its effect on both of them.

"I am in your hands," she said simply.

He made suggestions. She fell into the position so easily, so naturally, so effectively, that he put aside all previous doubts and blurted out:

"You have posed before, Miss Castleton?"

The young man drew a chair up to the table and began the task of working out the puzzle that now seemed more or less near to solution. He had a pretty clear idea as to the period he wanted to investigate. To the best of his recollection, the famous painter, three or four years back held the key. He selected the numbers and began to run through them. He was searching for a vaguely remembered article on one of the lesser-known English painters who had given great promise at the time it was published but who dropped completely out of notice soon afterward because of a mistaken notion of his own importance. If Booth's memory served him right, the fellow came a cropper, so to speak, in trying to ride rough shod over public opinion, and went to the dogs. He had been painting sensibly up to that time, but suddenly went in for the most violent style of impressionism. That was the end of him.

There had been reproductions of his principal canvases, with sketches and studies in charcoal. One of these pictures had made a lasting impression on Booth: The figure of a young woman in deep meditation standing in the shadow of a window casement from which she looked out upon the world apparently without a thought of it. A slender young woman in vague reds and browns, whose shadowy face was positively illuminated by a pair of wonderful blue eyes.

He came upon it at last. For a long time he sat there gazing at the face of Hetty Castleton, a look of half-wonder, half-triumph in his eyes. There could be no doubt as to the identity of the subject. The face was hers: the velvety, dreamy, soulful eyes that had haunted him for years, as he now believed. In no sense could the picture be described as a portrait. It was a study, deliberately arranged and deliberately posed for in the artist's studio. He was mystified. Why should she, the daughter of Colonel Castleton, the grand-niece of an earl, be engaged in posing for what evidently was meant to be a commercial product of this whitish artist?

Turning from a skillfully colored full page reproduction, he glanced at first casually over the dozen or more sketches and studies on the succeeding pages. Many of them represented studies of women's heads and figures, with little or no attempt to obtain a likeness. Some were half-draped, showing in a sketchy way the long graceful lines of the half-nude figure, of bare shoulders and breasts, of gauzy-lace fabrics that but lightly concealed impressive charms. Suddenly his eyes narrowed and a sharp exclamation fell from his lips. He bent closer to the pages and studied the drawings with redoubled interest.

Then he whistled softly to himself, a token of simple amazement. The head of each of these remarkable studies suggested in outline the head and features of Hetty Castleton! She had been Hawtigh's model!

Then she stopped; but it was too late, and he went away with a cold, heavy lump in his breast.

"Yes," said the guide. "It is said by the oldest inhabitants that there is countless treasure hidden at the bottom of the lake."

"Do tell us about it," asked the enthusiastic visitor.

"Yes," he said, "in 1914 a group of lawless bandits were being chased through this country and when they were about to be caught they put out in a boat and dropped their treasure overboard—seven

She smiled frankly. "But not for a really 'true portrait,'" she said. "Such as this is to be."

He hesitated an instant. "I think I recall a canvas by Maurice Hawtigh," he said, and at once experienced a curious sense of perturbation. It was not unlike fear.

Instead of betraying the confusion or surprise he expected, Miss Castleton merely raised her eyebrows inquiringly.

"What has that to do with me, Mr. Booth?" she asked.

He laughed awkwardly.

"Don't you know his work?" he inquired, with a slight twist of his lip.

"I may have seen his pictures," she replied, puckering her brow as if in reflection. "Oh," she cried, with a bright smile of understanding. "I see! Yes, I have a double—a really remarkable double. Have you never seen Hetty Glynn, the actress?"

"I am sure I have not," he said, taking a long breath. It was one of relief, he remembered afterward. "If she is so like you as all that, I couldn't have forgotten her."

"She is quite unknown, I believe she went on, ignoring the implied compliment. "A chorus girl, or something like that. They say she is wonderfully like me—or was, at least, a few years ago."
